‘Beyond the Border:
The politics of persuasion & BPD’

Over the past decade or so, a small group of people in SA, who were passionately committed to ending BPD discrimination & creating a better system of care for people with BPD & their families, engaged in a campaign of national & local political advocacy.

Despite the disappointments & frustrations and obstacles encountered along the way, they continued to work strategically towards their goals. Ultimately, they were successful in obtaining the funding to achieve what they sought, culminating in the birth of BPD Co, the new BPD statewide service in SA.

This is the story of that rollercoaster journey of advocacy.
